Clear Credit

Larry DiTillio created the original campaign concept and manuscript, with Lynn Willis later developing and broadening its content. Michael MacDonald wrote the original version of the travel times and shipboard ideas. Thomas W. Phinney designed the original campaign chronology. Kevin Ross wrote the original version of the Black Cat, while Geoff Gillan wrote the original version of Buckley's Ghost and The Demon Cabinet of Mister Lung.

This new edition adapts and revises the original works, as well as creates new content. Mike Mason established the vision for the new edition and was the project manager, as well as lead writer for the Introduction, Appendices, and England chapter; Lynne Hardy was lead writer for the America, Egypt, and China chapters; Paul Fricker led on the Kenya and Australia chapters; and Scott Dorward led on the Peru chapter. The authors all contributed to the development of the chapters, drank much tea, and had a few sleepless nights.

The authors would like to also thank Garrie Hall for his help with Detective Inspector John Craig (created by Kevin Ross in Sacraments of Evil, 1993); John French for creating additional material for the Travel appendix; and Matt Nott, who created Arthur Dibden.

Portions of Egypt text (Arriving in Egypt, Setting Information: Egypt and Cairo, Egypt in the 1920s, El Kahira, Giza, Dragomen, Saleem Naziz, drawn and revised from The Cairo Guidebook (1995) written originally by Marion Anderson.
