

Ravenswood's Hangman Tree

A 30x20 battle map

Instructions for Home Printing

Print pages six onwards, and make sure your printer is set to one-sided only. For one inch scaled squares, print at 91%. If you print at 100%, your squares will be 28mm.

For greater richness in colour and detail, we recommend using a laser printer (found in most libraries), set to 300dpi.

May this map bring you many great adventures, and thank you for helping me do what I love for a living!

Description & Adventure Ideas

A clearing in the forest gives sight to the ruins of an old temple where looming statues stand upon great stone pillars, weapons in hand, a somber look upon their faces. A lot of the ground around the statues has collapsed, taking with it much of the temple but revealing a catacomb of tunnels beneath and a series of small rivers which meandering through the depths.

In the center of the temple's remains on top a dais lies a large tree, it's leaves fallen and it's bark withered it lies dead or perhaps dormant, the remains of snapped ropes hang from branches but no bodies can be seen, it's almost as if the hanged men just got up and left. Many smaller stone pillars that have been carved with the shapes of demonic creatures surround it.
